

The no-call list is the best thing to happen to telephony communication in the last several years. For banks to now challenge "my choice" not to be called is ludicrous. Please do not in any way change the current policy.